

Harris County Robert W. Hainsworth Law Library

Policy Respecting Personal and Digital Property

Our staff members seek to provide excellent service to our patrons while respecting their personal and digital property. As such, staff members cannot:

1. Retrieve personal items, including money or documents, from a patron's personal belongings.
2. Enter log in credentials or data into a patron's personal digital device.
3. Enter log in credentials or data for a patron's personal digital account using a Law Library computer.

Patrons are responsible for their personal and digital property at all times while visiting the Law Library, and should never leave personal property unattended or leave a computer without logging out of all digital accounts. The Law Library is not responsible for any loss or damage to personal or digital property.

*The Law Library is division of the Office of Harris County Attorney
