Instructions & Forms for a Default Divorce (When there is Already a Final Court Order for Custody and Support of Your Children)

Warning: The information and forms in this guide are not a substitute for the advice and help of a lawyer.

These instructions explain the basic steps in a default divorce when there is already a final court order for custody and support of your children already in place and you do not want to change that order. Each step includes a link to the form or forms needed for that step.

Default means you have your spouse served with the initial divorce papers and your spouse does not file an answer with the court. If your spouse is served and defaults (does not file an answer with the court), you can finish your divorce without your spouse.

Use these instructions if:

- you don't think your spouse will participate in the divorce process, and
- there is a final court order for custody and support of your children in place, and
- you do not want to change that order.

Do no use these instructions if the order for custody and support of your children:

- does not include all the children you and your spouse have together, or
- is a temporary order, or
- is a family violence protective order, or
- you want to change the order.

You can print these instructions to use as a checklist.

Checklist Steps

Step 1: Determine where to file your divorce.

File for divorce in the correct county. If you file in the wrong county, your case will be dismissed and you will lose your filing fee.

You can file for divorce in the county where you live or in the county where your spouse lives as long as you or your spouse meets these residency requirements:

- You can file for divorce in the county where you live as long as:
 - you have lived in that county for at least the last 90 days, and
 - you have lived in Texas for at least the last 6 months.
- Or, you can file for divorce in the county where your spouse lives as long as:
 - your spouse has lived in that county for at least the last 90 days, and
 - your spouse has lived in Texas for at least the last 6 months.

If neither you nor your spouse meet the residency requirements, talk with a lawyer.

Read the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs: Filing a Divorce with Children with Final Court Order) for additional information.

Step 2: Fill out the starting forms.

Fill out this starting form:

- Original Petition for Divorce (Set C) (called the Petition for short)

You will file (turn in) the Petition at the courthouse to start your divorce case. The Petition tells the judge and your spouse that you want a divorce and states what you want the judge to order in the Final Decree of Divorce. The Frequently Asked Questions and related Articles included with these instructions will help you understand your options.

When you fill out the Petition:

- Print your answers neatly in blue or black ink. Do not leave blanks.
- You are the “petitioner” and your spouse is the “respondent.”
- Talk to a lawyer if you have questions or need help.

Note: The Petition asks for your address. Your spouse will get a copy of the Petition. If you are concerned about your spouse knowing your address, call the Family Violence Legal Line at 800-374-4673 for free advice.

Do you have a copy of the order for custody and support of your children? You will need a file-stamped copy of the final court order for custody and support of your children. If you already have a copy, make sure it includes the judge’s signature. If you need a copy, get it from the district clerk’s office in the county where the order was made.

Are you filing your divorce in the county where the order for custody and support of your children was made? If yes, use the same cause number and court number for your divorce. Find the cause number and court number for the order regarding your children at the top of the first page of the order. Write the same cause number and court number at the top of the first page of your Petition.

Note: If you are filing your divorce in a different county, the clerk will give you a new cause number and court number.

Fill out these additional starting forms if required for your case:

- Civil Case Information Sheet (NOTE: the Texas Supreme Court has repealed the rule requiring the civil case information sheet, so you may not need this form. If you are filing paper documents in person at the clerk's office, you should complete it and bring it anyway, however.).
- Exhibit: Out-of-State Party Declaration (required only if you or your spouse lives outside of Texas)
- Statement of Inability to Afford Payment of Court Costs (use only if you cannot afford to pay the filing fee for your case) Call the clerk's office to learn the filing fee for your case. Learn more here: Court Fees and Fee Waivers.

Make two copies of these completed starting forms:

- Original Petition for Divorce
- Statement of Inability to Afford Payment of Court Courts (only if you are asking the court to waive court costs)

Step 3: File (turn in) your starting forms.

File (turn in) your completed Petition and other starting forms with the court.

You need to find out if your county has standing orders. If it does, you will need to attach a copy of the standing orders to your petition.

- To file your forms online, go to E-File Texas and follow the instructions.
- To file your divorce forms in person, take your Petition and additional starting forms (and copies) to the district clerk's office in the county you have determined is the correct county to file your divorce.

At the clerk's office:

- Turn in your Petition and other starting forms (and copies).
- Tell the clerk you want to have your spouse served in person. This means a sheriff, constable or private process server will deliver the initial divorce papers to your spouse in person. (Remember: If your spouse will agree to sign the necessary court forms, you do not need to have your spouse served. Follow these instructions instead: Instructions & Forms for an Agreed Divorce (When there is Already a Final Court Order for Custody and Support of Your Children in the checklist above this checklist.

- Pay the filing fee and issuance fee (or file your completed Statement of Inability to Afford Payment of Court Costs if you cannot afford the fees). You can call the clerk's office ahead of time to learn the filing fee for your case.
- Ask the clerk if there is a local standing order that you need to follow or attach to any of your documents.
- Ask the clerk if there are local rules or procedures you need to know about for your divorce.
- If you are filing for divorce in the county where the order for custody and support of your children was made, ask the clerk to file you divorce case in the same court and under the same cause number. If you are filing for divorce in a different county, the clerk will write your new "cause number" and "court number" at the top of the first page of your Petition. (Write these numbers at the top of any document you file in your divorce case.)
- The clerk will "file stamp" your copies with the date and time. The clerk will keep the original and return your copies.
- The clerk will print a form called a "citation." The citation tells your spouse that you have filed for divorce. The citation also tells your spouse that unless he or she files an answer with the court you will be able to finish your divorce by default (without your spouse). The clerk will attach the other copy of your petition to the citation. The citation and petition are the "initial divorce papers" that must be served on your spouse by a constable, sheriff or private process server. Read Step 4 for instructions.

Step 4: Have your spouse served.

It is your responsibility to have your spouse served with the initial divorce papers by a constable, sheriff or private process server. You cannot serve the initial divorce papers yourself.

To have your spouse served in person:

- send the initial court papers to a constable, sheriff or private process server in the county where your spouse lives or works,
- include the service fee (call first to learn the fee) or a file-stamped copy of your Statement of Inability to Afford Payment of Court Costs,
- also include a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

The constable, sheriff or private process server will:

- give the initial divorce papers to your spouse,
- complete a Return of Service form that says when and where your spouse was served,
- send the completed Return of Service to you or the court.

The completed Return of Service is proof your spouse was served. Your spouse will NOT have to sign anything.

If the Return of Service is sent to you, file it at the clerk's office. The Return of Service must be on file for at least 10 days before you can finish your case, not counting the day it is filed or the day you go to court to finish your case.

NOTE: If you have trouble getting your spouse served, read this article: How to Serve the Initial Divorce Papers. If you have questions, you can use Ask a Question to chat with a lawyer or law student online.

Step 5: Fill out the Final Decree of Divorce and other ending forms.

Fill out this Final Decree of Divorce form:

- Final Decree of Divorce (Set C)

You will ask the judge to sign the Final Decree of Divorce form when it's time to finish your divorce. When signed by the judge, the Final Decree of Divorce ends your marriage and makes orders about your property and debt. It may include other orders depending on your case.

The Final Decree of Divorce form must be completely filled out (except for the judge's signature) before you go to court.

When you fill out the Final Decree of Divorce:

- Print your answers neatly in blue or black ink. Do not leave blanks.
- You are the petitioner and your spouse is the respondent.

- Talk to a lawyer if you have questions or need help.

Note: You must attach a file-stamped copy of the order for custody and support of your children to the Final Decree of Divorce. Make sure your copy of the order includes the judge's signature. If you need a new copy of the order, get it from the district clerk's office in the county where the order was made.

Note about retirement benefits: If you are dividing retirement benefits (other than an IRA), you must also complete a form called a Qualified Domestic Relations Order (QDRO). TexasLawHelp.org does not provide QDRO forms. You may contact the employer or retirement plan administrator to see if they have a sample QDRO form. If not, you should hire a lawyer to draft the QDRO form. If you use the employer or plan administrator's form, you should still have a lawyer review it to make sure you are not giving up important benefits.

You should have the QDRO prepared before you go to court, so the judge can sign it when you finish your divorce. Learn more here: Dividing Retirement Benefits Upon Divorce.

Also complete the Information on Suit Affecting the Family Relationship form (also known as the "Austin" form), which must be printed on one page (front and back).

Step 6: Have your Final Decree of Divorce form reviewed (if possible).

Some counties require this document to be reviewed by an attorney, while others do not. You should speak with the district clerk's office in your county regarding local requirements. Even if it's not required, it's a good idea to have a family law lawyer review your completed Final Decree of Divorce form. Family law lawyers specialize in cases involving families, such as divorce cases.

You can hire a family law lawyer just to review your forms. This is called "limited scope representation." You may also be able to talk with a lawyer for free at a legal clinic. If you need help finding a lawyer, you can:

- Use our Legal Help Directory to search for a lawyer referral service, legal aid office or self-help center in your area.
- Check our Legal Events and Clinics page for free legal clinics in your area.
- Use Ask a Question to chat online with a lawyer or law student.

□ Step 7: Wait the required waiting periods.

Wait the waiting periods that apply to your case.

- 60-day waiting period – In almost all cases, you must wait at least 60 days before you can finish your divorce.

When counting the 60 days, find the day you filed your Original Petition for Divorce on a calendar, and then count out 60 more days (including weekends and holidays). If the 60th day falls on a weekend or holiday, go to the next business day. Note: When counting the 60 day waiting period, don't count the day you filed your Original Petition for Divorce. Day 1 is the next day.

There are only two exceptions to the 60-day waiting period.

1. If your spouse has been convicted of or received deferred adjudication for a crime involving family violence against you or a member of your household, the 60-day waiting period is waived.
2. If you have an active protective order or an active magistrate's order for emergency protection against your spouse because of family violence during your marriage, the 60-day waiting period is waived.

Note: You can always wait longer than 60 days, but your divorce cannot be finished in fewer than 60 days unless one of these exceptions applies.

- 20 + day waiting period – From the day your spouse is served, your spouse must have at least 20 days plus the next Monday at 10:00 a.m. to file an answer. Find the day your spouse was served on a calendar, count out 20 more days (including weekends), then go to the next Monday. Your spouse must have until this date to file an answer. If your spouse does not file an answer by this date (and all other requirements have been met) you can finish your case by default without your spouse. Note: Your spouse can file an answer up until the time you finish your divorce case, even if the 20 + day waiting period has already passed. The 20 + day waiting period may or may not fall within the 60-day waiting period.
- 10 + day waiting period – The constable, sheriff, or private process server should have completed a Return of Service form stating when your spouse was served. The Return of Service form must be on file with the court for at least 10 days before you can finish your case. Important: When counting the 10 day waiting period, do not count the day the Return of Service is filed with the court and do not count the day you go to court to finish your case.

☐ Step 8: Determine if your divorce can be finished by default.

Call the clerk's office to find out if your spouse filed an answer.

If your spouse filed an answer, you CANNOT finish your divorce by default.

- If your spouse filed an answer and will now agree to sign your completed Final Decree of Divorce, you can finish your case by agreement.
- If your spouse will not agree to sign your completed Final Decree of Divorce, your case is contested. To finish a contested divorce, you must set a contested final hearing. You must give your spouse at least 45 days' notice of the final hearing. Read this article to learn more: How to Set a Contested Final Hearing \(Family Law\). Remember: It's always best to have a lawyer if your case is contested.

If your spouse did NOT file an answer, you CAN finish your divorce by default as long as:

- your spouse was successfully served by a constable, sheriff or private process server; and
- a Return of Service form (stating when and where your spouse was served) has been on file with the clerk's office for at least 10 days (not counting the day it was filed or the day you go to court); and
- the 20 + day waiting period for your spouse to file an answer has passed; and
- the 60-day waiting period has passed; and
- your spouse has not filed an answer and does not file an answer before you finish your divorce. (Remember, your spouse can file an answer until you finish your divorce, even if the 20 + day waiting period has passed.)

If you CAN finish your divorce by default, fill out these additional forms and make 1 copy of each form:

- Certificate of Last Known Mailing Address
- Military Status Declaration (If your case is filed in Harris County, fill out a Military Status Affidavit instead. Sign it in front of a notary.)

☐ Step 9: Get ready for court.

Call the clerk's office to learn when and where the court hears uncontested cases.

Print and read through the sample testimony (found below). You must read this testimony to the judge when you go to court to finish your divorce. Make sure everything in the sample testimony is true for you. If not, talk to a lawyer. Remember, everything you say in court must be true and correct. You can be charged with a crime for lying in court.

- Sample Testimony Divorce with Children \(Set C\)

Read Tips for the Courtroom for more information about going to court.

☐ Step 10: Go to court to finish your divorce.

Bring these papers with you to the courthouse on the day you plan to finish your case:

- File-stamped copy of your Original Petition for Divorce; and
- File-stamped copy of the Return of Service form showing when and where your spouse was served; and
- Final Decree of Divorce form completely filled out and signed by you (with a file-stamped copy of the final order for custody and support of your children attached); and
- Certificate of Last Known Mailing Address form and 1 copy; and
- Military Status Declaration (or Military Status Affidavit) and 1 copy; and
- Sample Testimony for Divorce - Children with Prior Final Court Order; and
- Any additional documents needed for your specific case, such as a Qualified Domestic Relations Order (QDRO) if you are dividing a retirement account.
- Your completed Information on Suit Affecting the Family Relationship form (also known as the "Austin") form, which must be printed on one page (front and back).

When you get to the courthouse, go to the clerk's office.

- Ask the clerk if you need the court file or docket sheet (list of what has been filed in your case).

- Ask the clerk to check one more time to see if your spouse has filed an answer. If your spouse has filed an answer, you will not be able to finish your case by default. Go back to Step 8.
- File the Certificate of Last Known Mailing Address and the Military Status Declaration (or Military Status Affidavit). Ask the clerk to file stamp your copy of each form. Bring a file-stamped copy of each form with you to court.

When you get to the courtroom tell the clerk you are there and give the clerk your paperwork. Sit down until the judge calls your case.

When the judge calls your case, walk to the front of the courtroom and stand in front of the judge's bench. The judge will have you raise your right hand and swear to tell the truth. The judge may ask you questions or may ask you to read your testimony. Have your sample testimony ready. The judge will listen to what you say and review your papers. If everything is in order the judge will sign your Final Decree of Divorce.

Step 11: File (turn in) the signed Final Decree of Divorce and other "ending forms."

After the judge signs your Final Decree of Divorce, go back to the clerk's office.

- File (turn in) the Final Decree of Divorce and any other orders signed by the judge. Your divorce is NOT final until you do so.
- Get a certified copy of your Final Decree of Divorce and any other orders signed by the judge from the clerk while you are there. The clerk may charge a fee for the certified copies.
- File your completed Information on Suit Affecting the Family Relationship form (also known as the "Austin" form), which must be printed on one page (front and back).

If your name was changed, you will need to purchase at least 3 certified copies of your Final Decree of Divorce to take to the agencies listed in Step 12.

Step 12: After your divorce is finished.

Send a file-stamped copy of your Final Decree of Divorce (and any other orders signed by the judge) to your spouse.

Follow these additional steps if they apply:

- If your name was changed, take a certified copy of your Final Decree of Divorce to the following agencies:
 - Your local Social Security Administration (SSA) office to change your social security card.
 - Your local Department of Public Safety (DPS) office to change your driver's license or state identification card.
 - Your County Voter Registrar to change your voter registration card. (For more information, contact the Texas Secretary of State.)
 - Contact the U.S. State Department to change your name on your passport.
- Transfer car titles. If a vehicle (not already in your name alone) is awarded to you, give a certified copy of the Final Decree of Divorce to your county tax office and apply for title. The vehicle identification number (VIN) must be listed in your Final Decree of Divorce.
- File deeds to transfer title to real property (house or land) at the property records office in the county where the property is located.
- If the judge signed a QDRO dividing a retirement account, send a certified copy of the QDRO to the administrator of the retirement plan by certified mail return receipt requested. If this isn't done, you won't get your share of the retirement funds.
- Revise your will, insurance policies, and all financial account beneficiary designations as needed.

11. Property and Debt

Note: It is important to talk with lawyer if you or your spouse has a house, land, business, retirement funds, other valuable property or debt. Getting advice from a lawyer now can save you time and money in the long run. You SHOULD NOT use these forms if there are complicated property issues.

About community property: Texas is a community property state. This means that any new property that either spouse gets from the minute they are married until the minute the judge grants the divorce is probably community property, even if the property is only in one spouse's name.

About separate property: Property owned by a spouse before the marriage is that spouse's separate property. In addition, if either spouse receives a gift, an inheritance, or a recovery for personal injuries that occurred during the marriage (not including a recovery for lost wages or medical expenses); it is that spouse's separate property. There are exceptions to these general rules. If you have questions talk to a lawyer.

About retirement: Retirement funds (such as 401k, pension, profit sharing, stock option plans and IRAs) earned by either spouse during the marriage are usually considered to be community property that can be divided by the court. This is true even if you or your spouse has not yet retired. If you want the Court to divide retirement funds (other than an IRA), you will need to have the Court sign an additional form, usually called a "Qualified Domestic Relations Order" (QDRO), to make the division effective. You should have the QDRO prepared before you go to court, so the judge can sign it when you finish your divorce. A QDRO form is not included with this divorce set. You may be able to get a sample QDRO form from the employer or retirement fund administrator. If not, you should hire a lawyer to draft the QDRO form. If you use the employer or retirement fund administrator's QDRO form, you should still have a lawyer review it to make sure you are not giving up important benefits. Note: If you and your spouse plan to keep your own retirement funds or do not have retirement funds, you do not need a QDRO.

About debt: A creditor's right to collect a debt is not affected by a divorce decree. So, if the Court orders your spouse to pay a debt (such as a mortgage) that is in both of your names, but your spouse doesn't pay it, the creditor can still seek payment from you. Ask a lawyer how to protect yourself in this situation.

11A. Community Property and Debt

If my spouse and I can agree about how to divide the property and debts we got during our marriage, I ask the Court to approve our agreement. If we cannot agree, I ask the Court to divide our community property and debts according to Texas law.

11B. Separate Property

I own the following separate property. I owned this property before I was married, or I received this property as a gift or inheritance during my marriage or I received this property as recovery for personal injuries that occurred during the marriage (not including any recovery for lost wages or medical expenses). I ask the Court to confirm this property as my separate property.

Important: You may use this script to “prove up” an agreed or default divorce IF you already have a final court order for custody and support of your children AND you are not asking the court to change that order. Complete the script. Check the boxes that apply to your situation (this will help you read the right testimony). Read it carefully. Practice it before you go to court. When you read it in court you will be under oath. Making a false statement under oath is illegal (Texas Penal Code 37.02). Do not read any part of this script in court that is not true and correct, or that does not apply to your situation. Have a copy of your Final Decree with you when you read this script.

Sample Testimony for Divorce with Prior Final Order Regarding Children

Your Honor, my name is _____.
(State your full name)

I filed this suit for divorce from my spouse _____.
(State your spouse’s full name)

At the time I filed for divorce, I had lived in Texas for at least the last six (6) months, and in _____ County for at least ninety (90) days.

I am asking for a divorce because our marriage has become unworkable and there is no reasonable expectation that we will get back together.

My spouse and I have

- a child who is under 18 or still in high school.
- children who are under 18 or still in high school.

There is already a final court order for custody and support of our child children.

I am not asking to change that order at this time.

The order was made in _____ County of the State of _____.
Fill in the name of the county. Fill in the name of the state.

The cause number for the order is _____.

I have attached a copy of the order to my Final Decree of Divorce as an Exhibit.

If Wife is testifying: Check and read only the option that applies:

I am not expecting a child now and I did not have children with anyone else during this marriage.

I am not expecting a child now. But, I did have a child children with someone else during this marriage.

Paternity of that child those children has been established by court order or properly filed Acknowledgment and Denial of Paternity.

A copy of that court order or Acknowledgment and Denial of Paternity is attached to my proposed Decree of Divorce.

DO NOT FILE THIS DOCUMENT WITH THE COURT.

If Husband is testifying. Check and read only the option that applies.

- My wife is not expecting a child now and did not have children with anyone else during this marriage.
- My wife is not expecting a child now. She did have a child children with someone else during this marriage.
Paternity of that child those children has been established by court order or properly filed Acknowledgment and Denial of paternity.
A copy of that court order or Acknowledgment and Denial of Paternity is attached to my proposed Decree of Divorce.

I ask that our property and debts be divided as set out in the Decree of Divorce I have presented to the Court.

Explain how you want the court to divide the property. Before court, you should have filled in all the information about the property and debt division in Section 6 of the Final Decree of Divorce (When there is Already a Final Court Order for Custody and Support of Your Children).

I believe this division is fair to both me and my spouse.

Note: If this is a default, you must also tell the judge the value of the property awarded to you and your spouse and the reasons your proposed division of that property is fair.

If either spouse is asking for a name change –

I am (or my spouse is) requesting a name change to a name that was used before we were married: _____.
(State the name used before marriage)

I respectfully ask the court to grant this divorce.

That is all I have, your Honor.

Remember: You cannot finish your divorce while a spouse is pregnant. And, if the wife had children with another man while married to the husband, you cannot finish your divorce until paternity of those children has been established.
